For fear he'd do it harm, But when they came to part that night, she gave a mighty grab, And whispered, "Hug me awful tight, And never mind the scab !". - Horace A. Chadrelck.

VIRGINIA POLITICS.

Au Echo from a Colored Rockingham Republican. To the Editor of THE REPUBLICAN: In the language of William Lloyd Garrison when he commenced the publication of the Liberator, "I am in earnest: I will not equivocate I will not excuse, I will not retreat a single inch, and I will be heard" in advocacy of the Readjuster party, their policy and principles being satisfactory to Republicans per se. Let those who have enlisted for the war expect to meet the foe. Bourbonism is trembling in the balance, and the leaders of this hidebound, moss-covered "concern," is raising all the powers that be to keep them from being found wanting. As a Republican voter of Rockinghamthe honored home of Schator Lewis-I am in earnest in advocating the rights of the people as exemplified by the platform of the Readjuster party. I F street, Washington, D. C.: am sustained in this position by an almost unanfmous vote of the colored Republican vote of the valley. In the last national contest (the vote for Congressman in the Seventh District) the colored vote of the counties of Rockinghan Bath, Augusta, Albemarle, Highland, Goochland Fluyanna, Greene, Shenandoah, and Page was east almost solid for the Readjuster congressional contestants, who came out victorious, In the Richmond district Captain Wise received the entire colored vote cast, and through ceived the entire colored vote cast and through-out the State the colored vote was cast with a degree of unaninity unequaled in the past political history of parties for the several Readjuster congressional nominees. The significance of that vote can be readily solved. In the coming State campaign—the na-tional campaign being eliminated—the slored Reoublican voters will not equivocate from the manly tand which they assumed in 1879. To-day the stand which they assumed in 1879. To-day the Readjuster party, since the nomination of Senator Lewis for the second place on its ticket, is sustained by nine-tenths of the colored Republicans and by nearly all of the white Republican vote. Those who are opposed to the Readjuster ticket are Messrs. Wickham Jorgensen, Dezendorf, and a few lesser lights—and for what? Do they oppose a free vote and a fair count? Verily they are numbered and known as grip-sackers. The colored man knows wherein lies his future political salvation, and beyond a doubt will not take any gripvalion, and beyond a doubt will not take any gripsack mode of warfare against the Fourbons. I, for one, will not excuse the folly of those who are attempting to mislead the uninformed and illiterate masses of our people in their nefarlous designs to throttle the movement and onward march of the Readjusters, a party pledged and able to fulfill their promises for the amelioration of the condition of the people of Virginia, regardless of color. I say that the grip-sackers are now doing more to say that the grip-sackers are now doing more to assist Bourbons in tightening their grip on Vir-ginia than the Bourbons themselves. "O ye are like unto white sepulchres, which indeed appear beautiful without but within are full of dead men's

HOMICIDE TRIAL. The Christmas Tragedy-Edward Lucas on

Trial. The case of Edward Lucas, colored, charged with killing Mrs. Sarah J. Shipley in South Washington last Christmas morning, was called in the Criminal Court yesterday, and in opening, Mr. Perry, for the Government, stated that he would only ask for a verdict of manslaughter. Theodore Shipley, husband of the deceased, was the first witness examined, and testified that he was in the kitchen of his house, when he heard his wife exclaim, "I am shot." He ran upstairs to her assistance and found her lying on the floor, with a would in her stomach. She died about forty hours after she was shot. He saw several persons at the window of a house opposite his. Among them was Lucas, who said that the shot had been fired from the alley. The prosecution presented a number of witnesses, who testified that the noise of the pistol came from the direction of Lucas' windows: but, as there had been considerable firing in the alley during the morning, they could not swear that he did the shooting which resulted in Mrs.

they had been washed out of the trees, where they had been bred. The fact of the matter is that the eggs from which frogs are hatched are deposited in the ground, and the young ones are washed out by the rain. The large number of frogs is a good indication, as they perform useful service in defouring injurious insects.

not, that it will become true. Such a step would not, that it will become true. Such a step would mark the progress of practical common sense in the management of the public business," &c. In the same sentence he contradicts his own arguments as a grand reformer by being forced to acknowledge "that although the system of compactitive assumptions cannot in of competitive examinations cannot in every in-stance be depended upon to point out the man of tan be supplemented by a term of practical proba-tion in the office before permanent appointment, and that it can certainly be depended upon to fur-nish a class of clerks on the whole far superior to those furnished by any other system. We state this as a matter of experience." Now, the fallacy of this contradictory so-called political prosti-tuting rolley is simply to show a clearly that any tuting policy is simply to show so clearly that any man of common sense can very distinctly see that he was forced to acknowledge since he left his great reforming portfolio that the civil-service reform is only made worthy of comment whatever by probation, and which in reality be-comes the principle, because whether or not on his own statement a man passes the competitive bore. He admits that he should first be put on probation before he receives his appointment, which naturally follows that the latter becomes, as it should in a practical sense of view, the prin-ciple in the civil-service system, and the competitive part becomes a secondary affair, or, more plainly and worse, a farce and a political prosti-tuting policy as already mentioned above. I may add that this we also state as a matter of ex-perience. ADOLPH LIEBSCHERTZ.

Modern Slavery.

Two negroes were put on the auction block, much in the style of slavery days, at Lexington, Ky., a few days ago. They had been sentenced to a year's servitude spiece for vagrancy, and their labor for that term was what was offered a perfumed note, written in a feminine hand, in for sale. A cattle auctioneer was the salesman, and the men were critically examined, with many pokes and pinches, just as slaves used to be. The first to be put up was a fat old fellow, and the bidding advanced very slowly to $20. "Bless my soul!" cried the auctioneer, "I recollect the time when he would have brought $500-a hale, hearty old nigger like him. Twenty, twenty, twenty; any -Young ladies: The latest and most advance on twenty? Go up and examine him, gentlemen. He's able to do a good day's work stare, opening the mouth, and tip-tilting the nose. This gives you the appearance of an angel who working on a railroad. Look how sleek and fat working on a railroad. Look how sleek and fat ne is. Look at his arms and legs." He was knocked down to Colonel Craig, a railroad contractor, for $34. The other negro was younger and tronger. Craig wanted to get him, but he was bought for $112 by a man who meant to put him to work at street sprinking. The sale was the first held under a new Kentucky tramp law.

FLITTING FROGS.

How They Jamped About After the Shower-Where Did They Come From?

After the heavy shower of rain yesterday the sidewalks in many portions of the city were coyered with myriads of tiny frogs. They hopped about in a lively manner and seemed to enjoy the wet. The question very naturally arose, Where did they come from? The most general theory was that they had come down with the rain; but where they came from? The most general theory was that they had come down with the rain; but where they came from in particular man, who was evidently an evolutionist, said that they were tadpoles suddenly transformed into frogs by the rain and the electrical forces of the clouds. Another theory advanced was that they had been washed out of the trees, where they had been bred. The fact of the matter is, that the errs from which frogs are allowable for my was that they had been bred. The fact of the matter is, that the errs from which frogs are highered are deposited.

CIVIL-SERVICE REFORM.

How Carl Schurz Contradicts Himself—
A Few Facts.

To the Editor of The Republican:
Carl Schurz, in the Evening Post, of the 18th instant, on "Necessary Reform" states "that the only means for relief from the place-seekers is the revival of the civil-service system," and that an inquiry has been instituted into the working of the civil-service rules formerly in force, with a view to their re-establishment. "We hope this report," he adds, "istrue; orif not, that it will become true. Such a step would mark the progress of practical common sense in the management of the public business," &c. In the same sentence he contradicts his own
